About the Show

For over 25 years No Quarter, an International touring Led Zeppelin tribute band, has been pounding the Hammer of the Gods to Led Zeppelin fans both nationally and internationally. This authentic Live Concert reproduction goes far beyond any group of musicians covering the same tunes you've heard on the radio for over 4 decades. Any musician can learn a song note for note, but to perform as a full Led Zeppelin tribute with all of the subtle nuances and authentic look and sound and mannerisms is comparable to an actor preparing for a character in a film. In this case the characters are members of the Legendary British Supergroup LED ZEPPELIN.

No Quarter captures the musical and personal characters of John Bonham, John Paul Jones, Jimmy Page and Robert Plant and brings each individual member to the stage in their absolute prime. Die hard Zeppelin Fans and Rockstars they've shared the stage with have sworn they were watching the real group live. Hence the word being spread that No Quarter is "The Real Deal" when it comes to Led Zeppelin tributes.

About the Show

Even Led Zeppelin's bassist John Paul Jones said after meeting the original Jones for No Quarter, while signing a concert photo of his character, "That's scary". Looking at the likeness of each character, he commented, "As long as you're doing it, means we don't have to."

No Quarter has been privileged to share the stage with Legendary Artists such as Peter Frampton, Foreigner, Molly Hatchet, Kansas, Steppenwolf, Nazareth, Tesla, Warrant, Jefferson Starship, Eric Burden and the Animals, Eddie Money, World-renowned Jimi Hendrix tribute musician Randy Hansen and many others.

No Quarter is bringing back the magic of a true Led Zeppelin Concert to fans all over the world, and the response has been overwhelming. If you've never seen the real Led Zeppelin in concert, or if you have and want to relive the magic, No Quarter is as close as it gets to capturing the Iconic British Rock Group Live. Their growing ocean of fans will agree.

About the Band

BRYAN CHRISTIANSEN as Jimmy Page

GUITARS, THERAMIN AND MANDOLIN

Hailing from St Neots, England, guitarist Bryan Christiansen came to America to live in Tacoma, Washington.

He picked up the guitar at age 14, under the influences of Jimmy Page, Jimi Hendrix, Eric Clapton, Eric Johnson and Steve Morse.

Bryan was inspired to start a tribute to Led Zeppelin after seeing Rain (a Beatles tribute) and Randy Hansen (a Jimi Hendrix tribute), and founded No Quarter in 1998. The name was inspired after seeing Jimmy Page performing the song No Quarter.

Over the years Bryan has worked various recording sessions, and is a Producer on the latest No Quarter videos and upcoming live CD. Bryan also plays the role of Chris Squire (bass guitarist) in the YES tribute band he founded called YesToday.

About the Band

NATHAN CARROLL as John Bonham

DRUMS AND PERCUSSION

Nathan Carroll is a founding member of No Quarter, performing as legendary drummer John Bonham.

Nathan has been playing drums since the age of three, and his love for the drums grew as his life progressed. He studied under Todd Snyder at North Idaho College to become a classical trained percussionist. His main influences are John Bonham, Terry Bozio and Billy Cobham, not to mention his father George, but mostly his older brother Philip. He has been playing in bands since he was 16 and with No Quarter for over 22 years.

WARREN — When Bryan Christiansen first heard Led Zeppelin's "Heartbreaker" as a teen, it immediately grabbed his attention.

"This guy is the greatest guitar player," he thought of axeman Jimmy Page. "The riff was just amazing with some killer vocals. I was just kind of baptized into Zeppelin so to speak."

While there will never be another Led Zeppelin, Christiansen has banded together with other talented musicians to carry on the supergroup's legacy. In 1998, he founded No Quarter, a Led Zeppelin tribute band that performs around the world.

For Led Zeppelin fans who never saw the band in its heyday, here's your chance. No Quarter is coming to the Andiamo Celebrity Showroom Jan. 25, and they're "gonna make you sweat, gonna make you groove." The Andiamo show is somewhat of an encore performance for No Quarter, which played a year ago at the 800-seat venue.

"The group was brought back because they were extremely popular with the audience members," Joe Vicari Restaurant Group owner Joseph Vicari said in a prepared statement. "The music was spot on with Led Zeppelin's."

"We loved the place," Christiansen said. "It had a good buzz and an excited crowd. Everyone was having a really good time."

No Quarter - A Tribute To Led Zeppelin's Legacy

Written by: Matt Innes Published: 12 November 2019

If it's been a long time since you rock & rolled, the No Quarter Tribute To Led Zeppelin's Legacy will help you shake off the black dog and get back on the stairway to heaven.

Long considered the ultimate Led Zeppelin experience, No Quarter bring the magic and mystique of the world's biggest rock band to life onstage, each member taking on the persona of Robert Plant, Jimmy Page, John Bonham and John Paul Jones.

In the role of iconic axeman Jimmy Page is Bryan Christiansen, who takes some time here to chat about the No Quarter show, the legacy of Led Zeppelin and the one album he can't live without.

The band was in Australia last year for the 'Hammer Of The Gods' tour; how did you all enjoy that experience?

Really had a great time last year meeting all the Led Zeppelin fans and seeing the country. The energy from the fans here was very powerful. Australians really know their Zeppelin and were very receptive.

Some Rock-n-Roll legacies are so enormous, a simple tribute would not do. That is why a band as vital to the history of Rock-n-Roll such as Led Zeppelin deserve a homage to their collective being – from the music, right down to their stage presence and wardrobe. That is where No Quarter comes in, a project that began over 15 years ago on its way to becoming the number 1 Led Zeppelin tribute band in the world.

Taking their name from a song by Led Zeppelin that appears on their 1973 album Houses of the Holy, No Quarter has their act fine tuned to create a magical evening of Led Zeppelin music that fans cannot get enough of. Recently touring Australia in 2018, they are now set to kick off the new year with some killer shows along the East Coast of America, so are you ready to rock? Here to talk about it all, founding guitarist Bryan Christiansen, who portrays Jimmy Page, reflects on the inspiration to start the band, the work he puts into the shows, plus more.

NO QUARTER HELPS KEEP THE LED ZEPPELIN LEGACY ALIVE ON STAGE

INTERVIEWS

Michael Lello 0 3:30 pm January 27, 2019

When guitarist and Led Zeppelin superfan Bryan Christiansen was assembling a tribute band, No Quarter, he had no shortage of talented musicians to choose from. But finding players that could swing like drummer John Bonham, attack the bass guitar from the compositional perspective of John Paul Jones and wail with the power and bluesy feel of Robert Plant, that was the real challenge.

"I had to look for those components, and I went through a lot of people to get where it's at today," Christiansen says.

No Quarter, from Washington state, will perform Tuesday at the City Winery Loft in New York City. More than a decade after Christiansen came up with the band concept, the group has just starting playing the East Coast. Earlier this month, a sold-out crowd of 1,200 fans came out to see No Quarter at the Patchogue Theater in Long Island during horrible weather "on the worst night to go outside," he says, which "told me there a lot of Led Zeppelin fans there."

The first East Coast trip came after No Quarter was mentioned in a Zeppelin collector's edition published by Rolling Stone. Christiansen says he wasn't tipped off about the mention, and grabbed the magazine by chance off a grocery store rack when he saw his band's name there. "I was blown off my feet," he says.

"So of course I bought it and sent it out to everybody. It's been a while, and it's neat that we're being recognized for what we're doing. It's a labor of love, for sure."
